

Lexington Open Studios is holding its 8th annual event this spring. On April 9th and 10th 2016, Lexington artists open the doors of their work spaces to share their techniques, chat about their work and sell professional artwork to the public. We enjoy many hundreds of visitors each year.

This is an artist-run event. All artists pay an annual fee to participate in LOS, but these fees cover only part of what it costs to hold a successful weekend.

We thank you for your support to help defray the costs of advertising in several local publications, for printing advertising materials, and for our website.
